Steps to better Restroom Cleaning

No matter what the establishment, the means typically used to gauge an organization’s cleanliness is the restroom.

Here are some steps to assist you in better restroom care.

- 1) Protect Yourself - Anytime we are working with chemicals, we should be exercising personal care. After an accident is too late. The proper safety equipment as well as proper training is our first line of defense.
- 2) Pay special attention to “hot spots”. These are areas that would be touched most often, such as the door latch in the bathroom stalls, dispensers, faucets, toilet flusher.
- 3) Clean and then disinfect the surface. First remove the soil and germs and then use a disinfectant to kill any germs left behind.

- 4) Equip your Arsenal - Be sure you have all the proper equipment to clean successfully. Such as more than one cloth, using a new rag with each new surface will help prevent cross contamination.
- 5) Go Touch-Free—The more touch free the better. This will help eliminate some of the “hot spots” that are frequent germ spreaders.
- 6) Police the Restroom—This is not just checking paper towels and supplies, this should also include wiping down the “hot spots”, disinfecting and emptying trash cans.

Restrooms are a dirty job, but one that must be done effectively to maintain a facility’s image and keep occupants healthy.
